

Emmanuel Neildez, new CEO of LISI AEROSPACE

PARIS, FRANCE, JANUARY 14, 2020 – LISI Group is pleased to announce the appointment of Emmanuel Neildez as Chief Executive Officer of LISI AEROSPACE as of January 1st, 2020. He takes over from Jean-Louis Colders to continue LISI AEROSPACE's growth as a leading supplier of aerospace fasteners and structural components.

Jean-Louis Colders will remain within the LISI Group until June 2020 to support its development initiatives.

Emmanuel Neildez is graduate of École Polytechnique and École Nationale des Ponts et Chaussées. During his ten-year period at Faurecia, he held various positions from production, project management to industrial strategic management. Emmanuel Neildez joined LISI AEROSPACE in 2007, took on several operational management assignments, and became Chief Operating Officer in 2017.

Remaining true to its values centered on people, the management team has the ambition to:

- pursue the company's growth in the aeronautical fasteners sector,
- and to ensure the transformation of the Structural Components Business Group into a world leader in its markets.

"I have full confidence in LISI AEROSPACE's teams to further increase our customer proximity and pursue our deployment strategy based on innovation."

Emmanuel Neildez,
Chief Executive Officer of LISI AEROSPACE

"Following in the footsteps of Jean-Louis Colders, Emmanuel Neildez, with his industrial experience, his knowledge of the aerospace market, and his presence within the teams for more than ten years, has all the qualities required to lead LISI AEROSPACE."

Emmanuel Viellard,
Chief Executive Officer of LISI
