

PRESS RELEASE

Paris, France, November 5th, 2004

LISI AEROSPACE announced the award of several five year contracts with BOEING Commercial Airplanes to supply fasteners for the Boeing 737, 747 and 777 airplanes.

LISI AEROSPACE has provided fasteners through its subsidiaries to The Boeing Company since the early 1960's. We have been successful in increasing our market share in all product segments provided to Boeing. Of significant note is the emergence of our Torrance facility as a primary source of the Lockbolt product line. This product will be supplied to both the commercial and defense groups, and is the result of a strategic plan initiated three years ago to extend product portfolio. It is an important step forward for LISI AEROSPACE in developing market share with Boeing.

LISI AEROSPACE is the world's third largest independent supplier of aerospace fasteners. Headquartered in Paris, France, the company provides fasteners and fastener solutions to prime manufacturers of airplanes and engines.

LISI AEROSPACE has over 2,000 employees and has operations in Europe, England, Mexico, Turkey and the United States.

